Fine On Firemen Upheld By High Court

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A $10,000 fine imposed on the Lexington area local of the International Association of Firefighters was upheld today by the Kentucky Supreme Court.

It indicated the punishment was mild in view of the union's violation of a temporary restraining order by a Fayette Circuit Court that led to a 10-day strike by more than 300 members.

The Fayette court denied a motion for a jury trial in the contempt proceeding against the union and after a hearing the judge held the local union and many members in contempt.

A number of members received fines and suspended jail sentences. They did not appeal.

The union argued on appeal that the trial court mistakenly found it guilty of civil contempt, whereas the punishment imposed is indicative of criminal contempt — and so the union was entitled to a jury trial.

That is not so, said Justice James Stephenson who wrote the unanimous opinion.

He pointed out that a jury only finds guilt or innocence in contempt cases, but that the penalty is imposed by the judge.

The union also implied that the $10,000 fine shows the alleged crime is classed as serious — therefore again calling for a jury trial.

But the high court said that based on the yardstick of the violation, the fine really is petty.

In another case, the estate of a man killed when his automobile ran off a wooden bridge lost an appeal against the state Bureau of Highways.

Estill Choate drowned when his car slipped off wooden runners on the bridge floor. Hart Circuit Court had affirmed the refusal of the state Board of Claims to pay damages.

Jasper Choate, administrator of the victim's estate, argued that the state had agreed with the county to perform routine maintenance work on the road, and that the floor of the span was part of the travel surface of the road.

But the Supreme Court said the Claims Board properly ruled the floor was part of the bridge, and hence exempt from the routine maintenance agreement.

Dr. James Ray Ammons Remains In Custody In Paducah Jail

Murray physician Dr. James Ray Ammons remained in custody Friday following a ruling Thursday by Federal Judge Charles Allen to revoke a $5,000 appeal bond allowing him to remain free after drug charge convictions.

Federal marshals said Friday Ammons was lodged in the Paducah City Jail, but could not speculate if he would be transported to Louisville to a Louisville facility to consult with his attorneys, as was indicated earlier.

No bond has been set in Ammons' third arrest, which came Wednesday after two Murray persons, one of them a juvenile, alleged that Ammons gave them PCP Tuesday night. The juvenile reportedly was later treated for a possible drug overdose.

A preliminary hearing in that matter has been scheduled before U. S. Magistrate Ron Daniels on July 7.

Allen ruled on the bond revocation following a two-hour hearing in which the two Murray persons, Sammy Chadwick, 19, and a 14-year-old juvenile, testified Ammons gave them some drugs at his home Tuesday night.

Judge Allen said it is his opinion Dr. Ammons should no longer be allowed at large pending appeal of his earlier convictions and is constituting a "danger" to young people at Murray.

As a result of affidavits signed by the two young people, law enforcement authorities seized from Ammons' home several drugs in controlled Schedules II, III and IV, marijuana and other drug paraphernalia. Judge Allen commented that none of the drugs were found to be in prescription form for him or his family, although quite possibly some of the drugs could have been used for such purposes.

Following his conviction in Paducah last month on federal drug conspiracy and distribution charges, Ammons was ordered by Judge Allen to surrender his federal drug registration number and order forms as well as any narcotic substances in his home, prohibiting his use of Schedule II narcotics and non-narcotics in Schedules II and IV. Judge Allen said Thursday that although Ammons was told not to use or possess such drugs he has continued to do so. Federal law also prohibits a convicted felon from possessing controlled substances.

Also, on Friday, the state Board of Medical Licensure reported that a complaint will be issued by the board against Ammons. This is a preliminary step which can lead to license revocation. That process could take up to one year, depending on possible appeals.

Chadwick testified Thursday that he was at the Ammons' home during the trial last month and smoked marijuana with the physician. Ammons interrupted testimony and discussions during and after the hearing Thursday several times and once was warned by Judge Allen he would be held in contempt if he continued to speak out of turn. At one point, the physician said "I am unable to forego those associations (with persons involved with drugs) if two people walk into my house and ask me to smoke pot with them." He said he was unaware they had marijuana on them.

The doctor also admitted being "destitute" because of circumstances surrounding the court cases and said he felt drug agents had been "unfair" to him. He told the court he had been unable to pay his attorneys and if they withdrew from the case he could not afford to hire other legal counsel.

Meanwhile, Louisville attorney Richard Zeman said he is "proceeding with the appeal in the first two cases" which he handled for Ammons. He declined comment on any financial matters and said he has not met with the doctor on the new drug charges this week.

Postal Rate Increase Still Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service still plans to raise rates next year, even though it's in its best financial shape ever.

Next week, the Postal Service board of governors is expected to propose increasing the first-class letter rate from 13 cents to 15 or 16 cents early in 1978.

The agency, while making "real progress," still lost $50 million in the last 12 months, says Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar.

Bailar said Friday that the operating loss was drastically lower than the previous year's record $1.2 billion and below the Postal Service's $500 million average annual deficit.

Record Crop Of Soybeans Possible

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky farmers could produce a record crop of soybeans this year if the weather is kind, state Agriculture Commissioner Thomas Harris says.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has estimated that the state's farmers are planting a record 1.4 million acres of soybeans.

That's up 27 per cent over last year's soybean acreage, and 12 per cent above the 1975 record.

Harris said it looks like a "pretty good step up" for the soybean, whose popularity has been growing in Kentucky over the last 20 years.

Harris said the increased acreage devoted to soybeans stems from the price — recently as high as $10 a bushel, and expected to stay well above $7 into next year.

However Harris noted that Kentucky is not alone in increasing soybean production.

Nationally, soybean acreage has increased 17 per cent to 59 million acres, according to USDA estimates. That could have an impact on the price of the bean, Harris said.

So far, the soybean crop is looking good, he said. The recent rains came at a critical time, when the seeds had germinated but needed moisture to grow.

Many To Observe Holiday July 4

Banks, government offices and many businesses will not be open for business on Monday, July 4, in observance of the Independence Day holiday.

The Murray Post Office will be closed all day Monday and no city or rural route mail will be delivered. The holiday dispatch schedule will be observed and stamps may be purchased from the machine in the lobby.

All businesses are not closing Monday, however. Several stores in the community have advertised special sales to celebrate the holiday.

The Murray Ledger & Times will not publish on July 4.

MSU Gets Grant Totaling $78,000

U. S. Congressman Carroll Hubbard announced Friday afternoon that the office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has awarded a $78,000 grant to the department of Special Education at Murray State University.

The grant is awarded to assist in developing and improving training programs for educational personnel working with handicapped children.

Artist Presents Program At Murray Art Guild Here

The members of the Murray Art Guild hosted representatives of Art Guilds of this area on June 30, when they presented Ralph Bagley of Winter Park, Fla. in a lecture-demonstration program.

Bagley has been sought after for many years for this type of program. He has a rich experience as teacher, painter, as critic, as well as conductor of numerous workshops over several states.

The activities of the day started about 11 a. m. with a demonstration in charcoal. Before the Murray Guild members served lunch, he accompanied the group to the Bank of Murray where Bagley has a group of his works on display throughout the week.

In the afternoon session Bagley demonstrated working with oils.

Plans were made with Guilds in this area participating in a joint effort for a workshop in the fall covering a period of eight weeks. Visitors attending this initial meeting were from Hopkinsville, Paducah, Benton, Marshall County Parish, Mayfield and Fulton, Bob Head, Chairman of the Art Department of Murray State University, and Ms. Nash Cox, Director of Kentucky Arts Commission.

Persons interested in participating in classes conducted by Bagley in the fall may contact the president of Murray Guild, Mrs. Hoyt Roberts, 753-3024, the Guild, 753-9065, or Mrs. Clell Peterson, 753-3505, for further information.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

He's A Lover, Not A Husband

DEAR ABBY: At the age of 44, I'm stumped. All my life I've worked with the public and thought I had seen and heard everything, but my own situation has me completely baffled.

After 12 years as a divorcee, I remarried. My problem is sex. When I dated my husband our sex was great, but as soon as we got married it started to go downhill, until now it is nothing. Six months of nothing, and I am ready to climb the walls.

I love my husband, Abby, and he claims he loves me. What is wrong? I am his fourth wife. His three previous wives told me that sex with him was wonderful—until they got married! They all admitted that they had cheated on him. (One he caught in bed.)

I don't want this to happen to us. Or me. When I mention seeing a doctor he flares up and throws a tantrum like a kid.

He is 50, drives a truck and looks like a stud, but since our marriage he has been a dud. Help me.

"ME" IN N.J.

DEAR "ME": It's psychological. Some men are turned on only by illicit sex. But as soon as it becomes legal (and therefore no longer forbidden), it loses all its excitement and appeal. In extreme cases, they are unable to perform.

Psychotherapy could help. If your husband refuses, you have no choice but to climb the walls until you reach the top—and then go over to join his three former wives.

DEAR ABBY: I have been trying to teach my children, ages 4 and 6, NEVER to accept any kind of gift from a stranger.

My problem is that many times when we are on a bus, or shopping in some public place, some well-meaning person will admire my children and offer them candy, gum and even money!

I hate to hurt their feelings, but, Abby, it makes it so hard for mothers to train children NOT to accept anything from strangers when strangers keep offering them goodies and money.

Can you please say something to help our cause?

ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'll try. Perhaps it hasn't occurred to all you generous, well-meaning people who "love children" and can't resist offering them goodies or money, that this is the technique used by child molesters who hope to gain a child's confidence in order to get him to "go for a ride" or "not tell" after improper advances have been made.

So if you love children, please don't offer them candy, money or gifts of any kind.

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls I work with is constantly talking about her sex life with her husband. (She's not a young kid, either.) Some of us are bored and others are embarrassed by her daily morning reports of what went on in her bedroom, but no one has the nerve to tell her.

We know she reads your column, so if you can't think of a better solution, how about running this letter?

THE OFFICE GANG

DEAR GANG: If no one has the courage to speak up, you all deserve to be bored or embarrassed. I'll run your letter, not as a "solution" to your problem, but as a reminder that the meek are destined to put up with a lot.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Give Two-timer Any More Room

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a friend who is married with two small babies. This man brings his girlfriends over to our house. We are good friends with both him and his wife.

I feel that by allowing this man to bring his girlfriend here, we are condoning his actions.

Should we just tell him bluntly that he can do as he pleases, but not in our house? My husband says his wife knows what's going on, and as long as she doesn't care, why should we?

Should I find out if his wife really knows? And if she knows and doesn't care, should it matter?

I still don't like the idea of a married man breaking his marriage vows on our sofa. What do you think?

A FRIEND TO BOTH

DEAR FRIEND: If he's breaking his marriage vows on your sofa, whether his wife knows or not is beside the point. Since you disapprove of his conduct, don't make it any easier for him by providing him with a place to rendezvous.

DEAR ABBY: I am an independent grocer with a question for you. Why do some customers (including relatives) ask for groceries on credit, but when they have the cash they will drive an extra mile to shop at a supermarket and give their money to strangers?

The people they give cash to wouldn't give them groceries on credit if their whole family was dying of malnutrition.

FED UP WITH PEOPLE

DEAR FED UP: There are two kinds of people in this world: The givers and the takers. The credit customers (including your relatives) who spend their cash elsewhere are "takers." You may complain, but the next time someone is broke and needs groceries on credit, you won't turn him down, because you are a "giver." The takers may eat better, but the givers sleep better.

DEAR ABBY: Before the wedding "X" promised to give up cigarettes.

For the first three years after our marriage, he was still smoking, and when I would gently remind him of his promise, he would tell me that he was "trying" and I should be a little more patient.

We have been married for eight years now, and this turkey is still puffing away, only he tries to hide it from me.

His deceit irritates me more than the smoking itself. How much longer should I be patient? And do you think he ever sincerely tried to quit?

DISGUSTED IN CALIF.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Give him until the 4th of July, and if he's still smoking—fireworks! I have no way of knowing if he sincerely tried. Perhaps he did. I'm told it's harder to quit smoking than to quit drinking.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE KENOSHA KID": Be patient. Dessert is never the first course.

FOR MONDAY, JULY 4, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Some planetary restrictions. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untied ventures.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Your creative ideas may need some revision before they can be carried out, so be sure to study all angles of feasibility before presenting them.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Especially favored now: personal relationships and intellectual pursuits. Stress your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Excellent influences! Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions regarding future activities.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a chance to prove themselves. Be steadfast, optimistic.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Follow your instincts now. Inspiration should be at a peak and could disclose heartening new vistas which will open to you shortly.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

A note of extra activity here. Also a hint of disturbance where it could, SHOULD be avoided. Determine to keep open, to maintain balance and friendly relationships.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Tip-top results indicated in current projects. You may be on delicate ground in some areas, but no dilemma exists without its solution. Search!

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Excellent aspects encourage clever activity, but don't set up hazards for yourself through impulsiveness, superfluous moves, unfruitful undertakings.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

The outgoing Aquarian should find this period entertaining and instructive. Be ready for new beginnings, sharpened incentives.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Curb tendencies toward indecisiveness, lack of resolution. Even if situations are difficult, face them, pitch in—and solve!

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly conventional individual, but imaginative and versatile; also cautious, conservative and intuitive. Your qualities are, in general, constructive, and it's rare indeed to find you going to extremes or, once having started a project, to waste energies by going off on unprofitable tangents. Your love of family and country are outstanding, and you find no service to either burdensome. Your talents are suited to many fields and, properly educated, of course, you could succeed in almost any field of your choice. Your best spots, however, would be in the areas of teaching, science (especially medicine), finance and real estate; in the arts; painting, sculpting, writing, music and interior decoration. Try to overcome a tendency to be dictatorial with those under your supervision. Birthdate of Calvin Coolidge, 30th Pres., U.S.A.; Stephen Foster, Amer. song writer; Mitch Miller, musician, TV personality; Nathaniel Hawthorne, Amer. author.

FOR TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Your judgment a bit cloudy now, so make no major decisions and, above all, don't launch any new undertakings. Stick with the familiar.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Certain dilemmas and obstacles will not be as difficult to handle as you may think. Don't let them keep you from appreciating your advantages.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Admonitions for this day: Be careful if handling joint funds of any kind. Don't get involved in risky speculation, and DO avoid extravagance.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You will probably be called upon to help persons with overstimulated emotions, to assuage hurt feelings. Be your understanding self.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may feel you have a project under control, rolling briskly. Better take another look for hidden flaws—anything that could mean time, effort lost.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Some of your future objectives are now taking shape but there's a warning, nevertheless: Don't attempt too much and don't make promises you cannot possibly fulfill.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Matters of minor importance may blow up out of proportion—unless YOU call a halt. Your quick-silver intuition and perceptiveness should be a help.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Think twice before embarking on any new plan or project; find out if you have all the necessary data, and if this is the best time for it. Discretion needed.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may now be able to find the solution to a problem which has been bothering you for some time—and in a surprisingly easy manner.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good Saturn influences stimulate your skills and capabilities. You should feel enthusiastic about the way things go now.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stars indicate that you could now strike out for a higher goal. You may have to take a different route to achieve it, but the new avenue could be a better one.

It's Going To Be A Tough Decision!

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 3, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

A good day for making decisions, but weigh them well. Move forward only after careful and deliberate forethought.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Mixed influences. You may face some off situations while traveling, or through communications. Obstacles, taken philosophically, could prove interesting as challenges.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Mercury influences now stimulate a spirit of adventure and heighten the imagination. You can make this a big day, if you will go all out in effort.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Explore further means to solve problems that arose in the past, still cloud the air. Fulfill a cherished desire by going after it. Don't just daydream.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some lack of harmony, differences of opinion indicated. Proceed with prudence, forethought. Be alert. Expect some obstacles. Widely divergent opinions to be evaluated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Curb a tendency toward pessimism. No matter what disappointments you may encounter, keep on plugging. Try to pattern your day after previous successful ones.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A fine day for artistic, literary and social interests. In all things, exploit your general know-how and finesse to the hilt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Be careful to avoid errors which could be prevented through better planning and more forethought. There's a tendency toward impulsive action now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A new contact, possibly a change of scenery or activity indicated. Make the most of all, since they could broaden your scope of interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Use good judgment in all situations. Restrain vigor when it seems politic; be aggressive where such tactics are required.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Uranus suspicious. You can achieve much if you will make the best use of your creative abilities and turn on that special charm which is so innately yours.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Generous aspects stimulate your interests and leanings, and your personality should shine. A novel adventure could also please you.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most artistically gifted of all Cancerians and could succeed in such creative lines as painting, writing music or as a theatrical entertainer. But, somewhat unusual in such cases, you also have a fine head for business and finance. Thus, should you choose the world of commerce and industry as a life work and one of the arts as an avocation, your natural satisfactions would be doubly fulfilled. On the business side, you could excel as a banker, stockbroker, investment counselor or insurance expert. Personally, you are generally conventional and conservative in your thinking and have an intense love of home and family. Birthdate of: King Louis XI, of France; Henry Grattan, Irish statesman; John Mason Brown, dramatic critic.

JAPANESE PAINTINGS — LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Museum of Art has acquired five important Japanese paintings of the Edo period (1615-1868).

George Kuwayama, senior curator of Far Eastern art, says the paintings are from the most creative, varied and prolific periods in Japanese art.

The paintings were purchased with funds donated by Fredrick Weisman and Associates. "The biggest Japanese population of the United States is in Los Angeles," said museum trustee Weisman. "My hope is that with this gift interest will be stimulated in the community so that we may develop one of the finest collections of Japanese art in the United States."

Pollution Abatement

NEW YORK (AP) — The Council on Economic Priorities has published perhaps the most unusual guide this year for stock market investors.

It says nothing about profits. It talks about pollution abatement instead.

If you were to use the guide, you might consider Owens-Illinois, Armco, Atlantic Richfield and Pacific Gas & Electric, because these concerns are said to have the best pollution abatement records in their respective industries.

Those industries — pulp and paper, steel, petroleum refining and electric utilities — are considered the most polluting domestic industries. The council seeks to praise those who do their best, and censure the rest.

Among those with the poorest records were Great Northern Nekeosa in paper, Gulf and Texaco in oil refining, Republic and National in the iron-steel industry, and Central Maine Power among electric utilities.

A young stock analyst, Alice Tepper Marlin, set up the council back in 1969 after dwelling on the notion that the most profitable companies perhaps weren't the most desirable concerns in terms of what's best for the country.

The council is now funded by grants, donations, publications sales, subscriptions and consulting fees, with individual grants and donations providing by far the largest part of the income.

Almost from the beginning it has been controversial, but it has earned respect and sometimes praise too, from individuals, legislators and corporations. Some companies have made internal records available to the council. Others have balked.

Based on the best information available from public and private records, the council now has published "The Pollution Audit — A Guide to 50 Industries for Responsible Investors."

Among petroleum refiners, the top scorers were Arco, Shell and Exxon. Gulf and Texaco were ranked lowest.

In iron and steel, Armco was found to pollute significantly less than the others of the top seven producers. Inland was second, but far behind Armco. And Republic and National ranked lowest.

Behind Owens-Illinois as the best pollution abater among pulp and paper companies, the council ranked Hoerner Waldorf and International Paper. Twenty-one companies were examined. Great Northern Nekeosa, American Can and Continental Can, ranked lowest.

Pacific Gas & Electric ranked first among electric utilities, but Oklahoma Gas & Electric and Southern California Edison followed close behind, with Houston Lighting and Power in fourth place.

The lowest ranked utilities were Virginia Electric Power, Iowa Power & Light, Florida Power & Light and Central Maine Power.

Each of the industries studied, and summarized in "The Pollution Audit," is the subject of longer, detailed reports running to more than 300 published pages.

The council says its members typically spend many months analyzing information, contacting chief executives, checking regulatory agencies, verifying data with companies involved and on-site studies.

Inside Report

Rhodesia's Unwinnable War

UMTALI, Rhodesia — A band of Communist-directed guerrillas which had just crossed the Mozambique border was wiped out shortly after dawn one recent morning when it collided with white Rhodesian troops — an encounter which points up how the white-minority government wins all the battles but cannot win the war.

Forty guerrillas were headed for the Maranke tribal trust land when, at 6:30 a. m. 22 miles southwest of this border town, they encountered a detachment of territorial soldiers. Fifteen were killed, several captured and the rest ran back to safety in Mozambique. The Rhodesian troops suffered no serious casualties.

Rhodesian security forces, army and police may be the world's finest counterinsurgency fighters and invariably maul Mozambique-based ZANU guerrillas in pitched battles. But the most telling characteristic of the war for Rhodesia is that such skirmishes are all too infrequent from the government's standpoint.

Although armed with Soviet bloc AK 47 automatic rifles, 82-mm. mortars and 75-mm. recoilless rifles, ZANU forces avoid pitched battles. Their steady infiltration from Mozambique seeks instead to enter tribal trust lands (where over 4 million of Rhodesia's nearly 6 million blacks live) to swim in Mao Tse-tung's "ocean of the people." The deepening problem for the Salisbury regime is that so many bands of guerrillas sneak through, becoming the effective government here and there through the tribal trust lands.

Some 1,200 guerrillas (out of perhaps 2,500 inside Rhodesia's borders) have slipped into the Umtali operational sector on the northeast border. There is little to show for that many well-armed men. Road-mining incidents are sporadic, attempts to cut rail lines have failed, and the last threat to Umtali itself came last November when a rocket fired into town failed to explode.

The incompetency of the guerrillas is legion. Lately they have been trying to detonate newly supplied rifle grenades with a live cartridge, causing the rifle to explode in the soldier's face. In a well-documented recent incident, four Rhodesian troops dispersed 170 guerrillas. Moreover, the quality of training and discipline of the new guerrillas coming from Mozambique is declining with the increased infiltration.

So, the time to nail the guerrilla is immediately after he crosses the border, disoriented and in low morale. But once he gets into the tribal trust lands, he sheds his uniform for blue jeans, to become a high-moral, gun-toting village tyrant. While those 1,200 guerrillas in this sector do not make much noise, their power of intimidation probably makes it impossible for Prime Minister Ian Smith's government to bring off free elections.

The Maranke tribal trust land may be the country's worst example. Civic administration has broken down, with schools closed and tax collections stopped. The government's presence was restored temporarily by a unit of the Rhodesian African Rifles going into Maranke. But when these black troops had to leave for other duties, the blue jean-wearing guerrillas reappeared.

Rhodesian security forces, their number a military secret but estimated at over 30,000, simply cannot be everywhere. To compensate for this familiar shortcoming of counterinsurgency warfare, blacks in the tribal trust lands are put into new "protected villages" (ominously similar-sounding to the "strategic hamlets" of early Vietnam days), guarded by the villagers themselves.

Psychological warfare to win the villagers' loyalty is pushed, and the government is considering whether to campaign for voluntary surrender of guerrillas (who now are often executed if they give up). The advent of the dry season, poor weather for guerrillas, gives government forces the opportunity for a major cleanup in the tribal trust lands.

Nevertheless, individual police and army officers are privately dubious about their ability to compete with guerrillas. Playing on human fear and greed while brutalizing the people, the guerrillas also talk of dividing up the big farms owned by Rhodesian whites. "We can't match the bloody 'terrs' (for terrorists) in pushing the Africans (blacks) around or promising them the world," one veteran police officer told us.

Thus, there is a mood of fatalism over beers at day's end at the 3rd Brigade officers' mess here. White officers vow never to leave Rhodesia, and the commitment is equally final for black troops (the army is 2 to 1 black, the police 5 to 1) with little future in the new Zimbabwe. But nobody talks of ultimate victory, and there is no doubt that the guerrillas would agree to any negotiated settlement or free elections.

Militarily, there is no light at the end of the Rhodesian tunnel. Rather, infiltration problems are intensifying with the buildup across the northern border in Zambia of 3,000 ZAPU guerrillas. Somewhat better disciplined than ZANU forces and not yet introduced into Rhodesia, these new guerrillas undercut a negotiated settlement and threaten an Angola-style civil war — grim portents to be discussed in another report.

An AP News Analysis

Property Tax Probably Most Unpopular In State

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Of all the taxes levied in Kentucky, the property tax probably remains the most unpopular.

Ironically, several studies published by the federal government show that in the past 20 years, the effective property tax on single-family homes in Kentucky consistently has been only two-thirds of the national average.

Perhaps the property tax's visibility arouses feelings against it.

For homeowners who finance through government-guaranteed loans, the levy is somewhat hidden because it becomes part of the monthly payments.

But for the majority who buy their homes under conventional financing, the property tax is payable in annual or semi-annual lumps amounting to hundreds of dollars. These payments drain savings all at once.

Paul Tanner, director of the state Revenue Department's research staff, has other theories.

"Perhaps the sharp rise in other taxes at all levels has caused people to attack the property tax," he said. "It is also the only tax subject to negotiation."

It makes no difference that Kentucky's property taxes always have been among the lowest in the nation, he said. "Taxpayers think in terms of what they paid 'last year' rather than what they could properly pay."

Another possible reason for the property tax's lack of popularity, Tanner said, is that valuation of property is "at best, an imprecise process" and that inequities "are easy to see, but difficult to prevent."

Revised property assessments in cities, counties and school districts always result in consternation and a wave of accusations against other property owners by those who feel their own land or homes have been over-assessed.

The Frankfort State Journal published a special section a few years ago listing the valuation of every residence in Franklin County. The edition was not only a sellout, but is kept as a reference in many homes.

Through the years there have been many property tax court decisions.

Until 1965, the usual theme of such cases was a claim by one taxpayer that his property was assessed at a higher percentage of market value than his neighbor's.

The conventional remedy was to reduce the assessment for the aggrieved party.

"Such cases helped accelerate the decline in assessment levels, Tanner said. "By 1965 the median county ratios ranged from perhaps 15 to 40 per cent (of market value)."

Finally, a group of Louisville taxpayers sued on the broad claim that the constitutional requirement for assessment of property at fair cash value was being violated.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals, then the highest state tribunal, agreed and ordered the letter of the law carried out.

Isn't It The Truth

Most people fear disgrace more than they fear an earthquake, for example or a bolt of lightning, or bullets. But people don't die of disgrace. They die because they can no longer live.

Outdoor Lore

Outdoor Lore is dedicated to the hunters, fishermen and others who enjoy the outdoors.

Spring and Summer

Butch Greer Outdoor Editor

Sportsman's Journal

For those who want to take advantage of the Ballard County Wildlife management Area deer hunt this year look for the application requirements in an article elsewhere in this outdoor section.

And speaking of deer hunting, if you are interested in participation in one of the fall quota gun hunts for whitetail deer, you can pick up a gun hunt application at any of the information points at Land Between the Lakes.

Applications must be postmarked by midnight August 10 (and received by the Wildlife Management Office, Golden Pond, Ky. by August 15), or delivered in person by 4:30 p.m. August 10 to the Wildlife Management Office in the administration building. This applies to applications for the Kentucky, Tennessee, and Youths Hunts. For additional information contact Wildlife management unit, TVA, Land Between The Lakes, Golden Pond, KY. 42231, telephone 502-924-5602.

I can remember as a youngster anxiously awaiting the new issue of OUTDOOR LIFE to hit the shelf at Davis's Drug Store on the corner of Metcalf and Bellfontaine in my old hometown of Lima, Ohio. In the spring and summer I'd bury my nose in the stories of every kind of fishing known to mankind. Fishing was different back then. Then in the fall and winter I'd read all the hunting adventures between those slick covers.

Fishing was my sport, though, and I could barely endure those long, cold winter months before spring—the time when I could hop on my "fishing express" bicycle and head for one of the ponds across town in the city park.

As I remember I was the meanest bream fisherman on Haller Street and even had the record on the block for having caught the largest catfish. I used to "sneak" out to one of the city water system reservoirs to fish for pike. Of course my parents would find out and deliver a punishment commensurate to my crime. I thought it was terrible to be punished for going fishing in a place they just didn't want me to fish. But I didn't look at the 14 mile round trip on a bicycle through heavy traffic as being the least bit dangerous. And then too, I was always by myself because none of my fishin' buddies' parents would let them go with me. Any number of consequences could have arisen and there I would have been — alone, I never did understand the worry I put my parents through until this last year.

My 10-year-old son, Chris, is at the age when I first pulled a little pike out of a reservoir where I wasn't supposed to be. For his own safety and his parent's peace of mind, he isn't supposed to go off to the dreaded "back pond" on the farm. It is a summer resort for vacationing water moccasins. But the pond is a good bassin' hole.

You guessed it. Son, Chris, "sneaked" off and hauled out his first bass on a rod and reel using a spinner bait. It was a ½ pounder. Elated over his catch he figured the folks would be equally happy and overlook the fact he went where he shouldn't. He showed mama the fish and all was well, but he just couldn't tell papa when he got home from work. The story came out though after papa accidentally found the fish in the freezer.

There was no reprimand but we worked out a deal where he doesn't go fishing back there without his papa. And the bass is now being mounted by Paul Black.

I found an interesting piece of information for those who enjoy nesting birds and put out birdhouses for them. If you ever have problems of birds avoiding your birdhouses for no apparent reasons, it may be due to the color of the house. In a study conducted at the University of Wisconsin, involving 11 years of testing, here's a rundown on construction of 98 nests by wrens in painted test boxes:

The AMERICAN COONER, the national tree hound magazine has an interesting gadget advertised in it. For those who have difficulty in following their dogs and at the same time trying to keep themselves oriented as to where the truck is, it is now easy to locate the truck with a special horn blowing device. No, the truck doesn't come driving up when you blow this special device. You hook this gadget up to your truck horn. You can order this device to perform one of three ways—if you want your horn to blow on the hour you order "No. 1"; or if you only want your horn to automatically blow every 30 minutes you order "No. 2". If you are the panic type you can order "No. 3" and it will blow your truck horn every 15 minutes. All of the blows will hold less than 15 seconds. What's next, guys?

Murray State Grad Competes In 17th U.S. International Shooting Championships

By Cindy Campbell

PHOENIX, ARIZ. — The thrill of competition and fellowship are the two reasons the U. S. Army Reserve Capt. William "Bill" Beard is active in competitive target shooting.

Beard of Bardwell, Kentucky, competed in the 17th U. S. International Shooting Championships, which were held at the Black Canyon Shooting Range, 10 miles north of Phoenix. The competition ran from June 13-24 and is sanctioned by the National Rifle Association. The shooters are also competing for positions on the U. S. Shooting team which will compete in the Confederation of Americas Championships in Mexico City in November.

"I do it (shoot) as much for the fellowship as for anything else. Shooters are almost all, as a lot, a very good group of people. They are very nice people," the shy Kentuckian said. "I do enjoy the thrill of competition. I like to win."

Beard now lives in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he works with the Ohio River Basin Commission as a water resource planner. The brown-eyed, brown-haired shooter described his job as trying to get the users of area water, 10 Federal agencies and 11 states together to decide what to do with the water, what water projects to build, and what projects not to build.

Beard began shooting when he entered Murray State University in Murray, Kentucky, 10 years ago. He was the National Collegiate Champion his senior year, and after graduation tried out for the U. S. Army team. He made the team and served two years active duty. He has been a Reservist for three years.

He believes his biggest problem with shooting is trying to find enough time to practice. He says he hasn't had the time to train since he got out of the Army.

"I really haven't been able to train but I knew I didn't want the Army as a career so I got out. I knew that by that point in my life I needed to get started on whatever would be my life work," he said.

Although he feels he doesn't like keep shooting, "Since I haven't practiced golf for 10 years I will stick with shooting," he said.

"Basically I am shy and conservative. I've heard that doesn't make for a good shooter. Some of the best, like Lones Wigger and Lanny Bassham, are extroverts. The good shooters talk a lot," he laughingly said.

Beard shoots rifle events in competition and says his favorite event is the English Match. In the English Match, shooters fire 60 shots in 2 hours at targets set at 50 meters. A smallbore rifle is used and there are three courses of fire.

Beard did not qualify for the U. S. team in any of the smallbore (.22 caliber) events and feels his chances of making the team in one of the two Big Bore categories (Free Rifle-300 Meter and Big Bore Standard Rifle) are 10-1 against him, because he feels the other competitors are more experienced in those events.

Skunks And Other Animals Are Rabies Carriers

By John Wilson

If you see a wild animal acting strangely, leave it strictly alone. There's always the possibility that it has rabies.

Although this dread disease is most commonly associated with dogs, virtually all mammals can contract rabies and transmit it to man. Foxes, bats and rats are among the most common carriers of rabies, but skunks may actually be more dangerous, since they carry the rabies virus for six to eight months, according to Joe Bruna, director of the Department of Fish and Wildlife's game management division.

This means that even a "deodorized" skunk bought from a pet store and certified disease-free could suddenly develop rabies months after it is purchased, Bruna says.

A wild animal with rabies often does not exhibit the fear of man that is natural among wild creatures. This can lead many people to think that the animal is a lost "pet." Children are especially prone to try to adopt such an animal.

A couple of years ago, a group of youngsters at a church-sponsored children's home captured a fox. They thought the animal looked sick, so they brought it to the Game Farm at Frankfort for treatment. After a few days, the fox died, and the Department of Health confirmed that it was rabid. Two of the Game Farm employees and all the children who had come in contact with the fox had to take the painful series of rabies shots.

All children, particularly those living in rural areas where the chances of encountering wild animals are great, should be warned about the dangers of handling, or even approaching, any animal that is acting sick or unusual, or which does not seem to be afraid of them.

Rabies is transmitted from one animal to another, or to man, by the saliva from the diseased animal, usually through a bite. But the virus can enter the skin from any open wound which the saliva contacts.

Any suspicious animal should be reported to the local authorities — either the county health department, the local conservation officer or the sheriff's office. If someone is bitten or otherwise attacked, he should seek immediate medical aid and every attempt should be made to kill or capture the animal.

By the time the symptoms of rabies appear, it is too late to counteract the disease by vaccination. Health department officials can determine, by examining the animal's head, whether or not it is rabid. If the animal cannot be located, then the victim usually must undergo the rabies treatment as a precaution.

Of course, all dogs, cats or other pet animals should be inoculated as directed by a veterinarian, and even an immunized pet should be watched closely if it is bitten by a suspected rabies carrier.

Ballard County Wildlife Area Deer Hunt Applications Being Accepted

Hunters will have a 14-day period in which to apply for deer hunting at the Ballard County Wildlife Management Area in Western Kentucky, according to regulations proposed by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

All hunters wishing to hunt deer on the Ballard area must submit a letter of application between July 1 and July 14, 1977. A random drawing will be used to select the 120 hunters for each of the six two-day hunts.

Three bow hunts are scheduled for the area: Oct. 16-17, Oct. 23-24 and Oct. 30-31. In addition, three gun hunts are scheduled for Oct. 21-22, Oct. 28-29 and Nov. 5-6. Wildlife biologists feel these hunts are necessary to reduce the size of the deer population in the area, thus lessening the chances of disease and overbrowsing.

Only one application per individual will be permitted. Multiple applications will result in disqualification of the applicant.

All hunters wishing to apply should follow the steps below carefully, says Game Management Director Joe Bruna. Failure to do so could lead to delays or disqualification, he warns.

Each letter of application must contain the following:

1. The name of each applicant (limit two names per application)
2. Address
3. Age
4. Telephone number
5. Hunting license number
6. Preferred method of hunting (gun or bow)
7. First, Second and Third choices of hunting dates

A stamped, self-addressed envelope must accompany each application. All applicants will be notified whether or not they were successful in the drawing. Those who are chosen to hunt will have 14 days from the time they are notified to

President Carter Proclaims Safe Boating Week

President Carter has proclaimed July 3 through 9 as National Safe Boating Week, prompting Col. Henry J. Hatch, Nashville District engineer, to urge all boating enthusiasts to practice safe boating habits throughout the year.

Last year there were 34 drownings at the nine lakes in the district, which had a record attendance of approximately 30.9 million return a $10 fee (cashier's check or money order payable to Dept. of Fish & Wildlife Resources).

Applications should be addressed to: Manager, Ballard County Wildlife Management Area, Rt. 1, LaCenter, Kentucky 42056. Each envelope should have either "gun" or "archery" written in the lower left corner.

visitors. From January through mid-June of this year, there have been 15 drownings. Fourteen of the victims were male, between the ages of 8 and 48; and none were wearing the personal flotation device approved by the U. S. Coast Guard.

Col. Hatch stressed that the increased participation in recreational boating adds to the responsibility of developing and practicing safe boating skills. Everyone who uses water, whether it is boating, swimming, or fishing from the bank, should be able to swim and to aid others who may be in trouble, Hatch said.

He added: "National Safe Boating Week lasts only seven days; but boating fun and safety should go hand-in-hand all year long."

Fenwick Introduces Graphite Rod Series

WESTMINSTER, CALIF. — After an overwhelming acceptance by fishermen of its first-on-the-market HMG High Modulus Graphite rods last year, Fenwick has increased its new line, including the introduction of a completely new five-rod series of spinning models. Designed for the serious angler looking for ultimate performance in a fishing rod—such as the expert fly caster or the tournament bass pro—HMG rods met with such outstanding success in 1974 that most numbers were backlogged under heavy

WHAT DOES GRAPHITE DO FOR THE BASS FISHERMAN

DISTANCE—It casts a lure farther due to the speed of recovery of graphite which is most important when fishing small lures and light lines in clear water.

ACCURACY—It casts more accurately because the rod is lighter and because the lure travels farther. An attribute appreciated by the fisherman accustomed to working brushy areas.

SENSITIVITY—Graphite provides a new dimension in sensitivity simply because in the past, the characteristic of a rod was limited by its construction. Lower level vibrations can be perceived by the angler as well as greater distinction between types of vibrations. These two sensitivity factors result in feeling light "pick-ups" that went unnoticed or in detecting those marginal hits that initially seemed to be a weed or bottom condition.

SETTING THE HOOK—The stiffness of the rod allows for much faster setting of the hook. This will put more fish on the string.

ABILITY TO HANDLE RANGES OF LURES—Graphite rods are capable of handling a greater variety of weight. This results in fewer rods necessary in the boat and more importantly, fewer rods necessary by the bass angler to cover his fishing requirements.

EASE IN HANDLING—Light weight but tip speed combine to make casting much easier. A decided advantage to a bass angler who fishes continuously dawn to dusk and then some.

buying demand. Following extensive research in the field of high modulus graphite fibers, Fenwick was first to offer the angling public a line of HMG rods in its original series of five fly rods and four casting rods.

These nine initial rod models met the company's exacting standards only after a blend of technology, coupled with exclusive resin systems and the use of high modulus graphite material, produced a combination which fishermen accepted as the most advanced innovation in fishing rods since the fiberglass rod blank.

Doubling the previous line of HMG's is the introduction of a trio of HMG fly rods ranging from 7' to 9' in length; five spin rods, from 4'6" to 8'3" and one new 5½' casting rod.

The most distinguishing characteristics of the expanded, 18-model HMG line are (1) their extreme light weight; (2) small rod diameter and (3) relatively "stiff," yet extremely sensitive action.

HMG models weigh as little as 25 per cent less than comparable fiberglass rods and up to 40 per cent less than bamboo. They are approximately one-third less in rod diameter. And due to the fine rod dampening qualities of HMG fiber combined with the Fenwick resins system, much unwanted rod vibration is eliminated (an end to "wavy" lines during a cast) while the rods retain a greater sensitivity to vibrations TRANSMITTED ALONG THE FISHING LINE.

Don Butler, national bass tournament pro from Tulsa, Oklahoma, summed up the sensitive feel of HMG rods by GRAPHITE RODS—What is graphite? The word is merely a convenient term for a very stiff type of "Carbon fiber," which was invented in 1965 by the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, England. Pictured above are a fly-rod, bait-casting rod, and spin-casting rod made from the revolutionary material. When compared to fiberglass as a rod material, the graphite is equal in strength with 25% less weight and approximately one-third less diameter distance. The stiffer feeling of graphite also offers greater accuracy and better line control.

commenting in the March-April, 1974 issue of BASSMASTER Magazine, "I took one to the (Bass) Bassmasters' Classic and I had this new little bait called the Spin Bug. That darn bait seemed like it would shake the rod out of my hands when it was swimming. It felt so alive. Then I tried the Spin Bug on a different rod and to a great extent it turned out to be the (HMG) rod that was transmitting the action of the bait so well."

Poor Boy Bass Tournament Held

The Poor Boy Bass Association held its fifth, of six, regular season tournaments on Lake Barkley at the State Park Marina. Nineteen Poor Boys drew for boat partners at 4:30 a. m. Boats were launched and the teams eased out of the brake-water area by 4:50 a. m. The day broke overcast and windy. Water surface temperatures were recorded in the high seventies and low eighties. Skys remained overcast until 11:30 a. m. causing a better than average catch in the numbers of fish taken. Fifteen of the nineteen contestants reported a catch at the 3:00 p. m. weigh-in. The most effective lures were plastic worms. Fish were taken from the lake in water from two to twelve feet deep.

Bill Hough, Owensboro, Ky. captured first place; winning the $100.00 first place money and accumulating 100 first place points, to move him from twenty-fourth position into a tie for the fifteenth position in the seasons point standings. Bill's catch was eight fish with a total weight of ten pounds, four ounces.

Allen Posella, Owensboro, Ky. took second place cash of $64.00 and second place points of 98 to place him firmly in eleventh position in the point standings. Al accomplished this with six fish weighing a total of seven pounds, twelve ounces.

Third place position was earned by Danny Johnson, Bowling Green, Ky. with a catch of two fish weighing a total of five pounds, one ounce. Danny's third place position yielded cash of $33.00 and ninety eight points to assure an invitation to the Poor Boy National Classic to be held in October, 1977. He is number one position with a total point accumulation for the first five events of 412 points.

The top ten contests, after five events in the 1977 point standings:

1. Danny Johnson, Bowling Green, Ky. 412; 2. Bill Pirtle, Bowling Green, Ky. 394; 3. Roger Pickard, Beaver Dam, Ky. 337; 4. Henry Williams, Owensboro, Ky. 310; 5. Andy Arnold, Valley Station, Ky. 309; 6. Larry Nichols, Cromwell, Ky. 306; 7. Fred Leatherland, Boonville, Ind. 275; 8. James T. Westmoreland Jr., Ft. Campbell, Ky. 270; 9. Larry Ranburger, Owensboro, Ky. 248; 10. Dennis Seltam, Owensboro, Ky. 236. At the end of six regular season tournaments the top six contestants in the seasons accumulated point standings will be invited to the Poor Boy National Classic Tournament to be held in October, 1977. Four additional contestants will be qualified in the Poor Boy National Classic "Wild Card" Qualifier event to be held September 10, 1977.

Trailer Winch Rope

In boating just as in other sports, it's the little things that count. You could take for granted the rope or cable that comes on your trailer's winch. But if you looked into it somewhat, you'd discover useful bits of knowledge.

Both synthetic rope and wire cable are in use. Each has its good points and its devotees.

Synthetic ropes are quite soft and pliable and thus are always easy on the hands. When they crisscross upon winding up on the winch drum, they compress and are seldom harmed. Repeated chafing on metal parts of the trailer and the high pressure caused by criss-crossing and jamming together on the winch eventually breaks individual strands in steel cable. Then it can be hard on the hands and clothing.

On the other hand, steel cable rarely breaks without warning. Its gradual deterioration shows up quite visibly and one can act to replace it in time. But, sometimes cable does break from unexpected internal rusting. The MerCruiser stern drive boating authorities suggest that you grasp a few inches of suspected cable between your fingers and both bend and twist it to open up its lay. This allows its internal condition to be checked.

Synthetic ropes do not rust or rot, but prolonged exposure to the sun's direct rays does deteriorate them. They become noticeably stiffer. When that happens there is no easy fix; the rope must be replaced. Care must be taken to see that synthetic rope never rubs or jams against parts of the trailer or winch, for this can chafe and break filaments.

Thanks to its smaller diameter, a greater length of steel cable can be wound onto a winch drum. The need for a long line is sometimes the reason a boat owner will choose cable over rope.

As a drum fills with whatever type of line is used, its working diameter increases and the mechanical advantage of the winch gearing falls off. In such a case, steel cable will fill the drum less and maintain better mechanical advantage.

Three hours of fishing time is all it took to bring in this load of fish. Preston Barrett and son Eric show what fly-fishing around willow hatches will produce. Shown here are some of the 59 stripes, 14 bluegills and 1 largemouth that were caught from Kentucky Lake.

Four Wheeling By Hamp Brooks

The column will be a bit short today because the getting ready for the camping trip kept us up until the wee wee hours of the night and the schedule for the day is already crammed. Our family really enjoys the camping out times but sometimes I wonder if maybe all of us who camp might not profit by doing some careful study of the original inhabitants of this area. The American Indian was truly the master of living in the great out of doors.

I don't believe his wife carried as much stuff along as mine is inclined to, however. A four wheel drive truck is really an asset when it comes to moving all the stuff required for a three day outing. Three fourths of it we never seem to use but I guess it's nice to know it's there if you did ever happen to need it.

Had a real nice group of four wheelers down from the Cincinnati area two weeks ago. We'll try to run a story on them next week complete with pictures. They liked it so much we understand one or two of them are considering moving down here if they can find a job. That good old western Kentucky hospitality can be contagious.

Friend of mine by the name of Lindy Carr finally became a four wheeler after doing a right smart of shopping. I went with him to get his first four wheel drive rig this week and it was a dandy - a genuine 1941 Willys military jeep. The great granddaddy of all four wheel drives. This was the original, the one that started it all. Driving it sure did bring back a flood of memories. As best as I can tell this is the oldest of all the four wheel drives in the county and 1941 is the first year that jeeps were put into production for the military. There were a few pilot models built in 1940. For a rig that is thirty six years old the jeep is in remarkably good condition.

It's time to go. Have a nice week and HAPPY FOUR WHEELING.

THE LONE RANGER NEVER DID BETTER

A young man behind the wheel was losing his battle with a snow-bank. Even with his two female companions pushing, he could not get away from the curb.

Out of the Mist
Then, when things looked hopeless, along came a Jeep Wagoneer with Quadra-Trac. "Do you want me to pull you out?"

This Wagoneer was facing in the opposite direction and the vehicle in trouble was boxed in by cars which had parked haphazardly along the uneven snowbanks. The Jeep driver made several U-turns in the congested traffic before he found the opening he needed. He backed up to within a foot of the small car. He removed a short chain from the rear of the Jeep, and professionally attached the two vehicles.

He got back into the Wagoneer. The chain went taut and pulled the small car effortlessly into the center of the street.

The girls cheered. The driver of the small car fumbled with his gloves and looked indecisive, perhaps wondering whether he should give money. The Jeep driver reached out, grabbed the other man's hand, shook it vigorously, smiled, got back into the Wagoneer and drove off.

"Who Was That Stranger?"
This is the kind of thing you expect of the Lone Ranger. You don't expect to see it on a snow-covered street, but the Lone Ranger never did it better.

The stranger's name was Gunther Mench. This was the third person he'd rescued that afternoon, he said. Gunther looked for people to help because he knew service stations could not handle all the appeals and because in the severe New England winters, helping a neighbor becomes a routine matter of mutual survival.

"Most people around here are surprised when you offer help," he said. "They just don't expect to be helped here."

"Doing people a favor for something people don't expect anymore. In a way, I'm curious to see how people act when I help them."

He drove away then, and in the distance you could hear "Hi Yo Wagoneer!"

Zisk Trying To Teach Teammates

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Richie Zisk knows what it's like to be in the playoffs. And he's trying to teach his teammates how to get there.

When the Chicago White Sox obtained Zisk from Pittsburgh in the off-season, they knew he was a winner after having played on three divisional titlists with the Pirates. Now Zisk is instilling that positive attitude in the White Sox.

"I think our guys are getting the feeling of what it's like to be in the playoffs," Zisk said Friday after the White Sox moved back into first place in the American League West with a 5-2 triumph over Minnesota. "That was real playoff atmosphere out there."

A crowd of 35,709 turned out and saw Zisk blast two home runs and drive in all five runs for the Sox. The fans chanted, "We're No. 1" throughout the ninth inning.

If the Sox continue to get pitching like Chris Knapp's nine-hitter, they certainly will be in good shape. Knapp, 7-4, got a boost right away when Zisk slammed a three-run homer in the first inning off loser Dave Goltz, 8-5.

Major league batting leader Rod Carew had a triple and single in five at bats and remained at .411.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland shut out California 2-0 behind Vida Blue, Kansas City bopped Cleveland 12-2, Milwaukee edged Seattle 2-1, Baltimore topped Boston 8-2, handing the Red Sox their seventh straight defeat, Detroit beat New York 5-1 and Texas outslugged Toronto 11-8.

A's 2, Angels 0
Blue, 6-9, pitched a five-hitter to win his 12th straight game at Anaheim Stadium and the A's seventh in eight games with California this season. Blue hasn't lost in Anaheim since July 20, 1969, his major league debut. He didn't credit his fastball nor his curve nor the excellent fielding of his teammates for the streak.

Manny Sanguillen had three hits and Tony Armas a solo homer to support Blue.

Royals 12, Indians 2
Kansas City moved within 21-2 games of first place in the AL West as Joe Zdeb smashed five hits and had four runs batted in, including a three-run homer in the fifth.

Marty Pattin, 2-2, replaced starter Paul Splittorf with none out and Cleveland ahead 2-0 in the first inning. Pattin allowed just three hits the rest of the way.

Amos Otis and John Mayberry each contributed solo home runs to the 18-hit Kansas City attack.

Brewers 2, Mariners 1
Rookie Moose Haas was glad to see July. Haas, 5-5, was 0-3 with a 7.72 earned run average in June but he pitched a fine four-hitter and struck out eight against the Mariners.

Sixto Lezcano's solo home run in the fourth inning won the game for Milwaukee.

Orioles 8, Red Sox 2
Doug DeCinces' two two-run homers and Jim Palmer's seven-hitter carried Baltimore past slumping Boston and within 21-2 games of the first place Red Sox.

The Red Sox had bombed Palmer for nine home runs in his last two appearances against them, but the 1976 Cy Young Award winner was in control Friday. He struck out seven and walked three in snapping the Orioles' 11-game losing string against Boston.

Tigers 5, Yankees 1
The Tigers grabbed their fifth consecutive triumph as Jason Thompson and Milt May slugged home runs and Dave Rozema earned his first victory in three weeks.

Rangers 11, Blue Jays 8
Texas' 14-hit attack was led by Willie Horton's three hits and Bert Campaneris' fourth homer of the season.

Horton went 3-for-5, scored twice and drove in a run in support of Doyle Alexander's seventh victory in 12 decisions. Toronto rookie Steve Staggs homered and singled in his first major league appearance.

Cubs Appear To Have Lost All Their Early Power

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Remember those magic wands the Chicago Cubs were waving earlier this season? Well, they've suddenly turned into ordinary bats.

The Cubs appear to have lost all their power in recent days—and as a result are losing some of their lead in the National League East.

"We're going through a little spell right now where everything we hit is at somebody," said Chicago pitcher Mike Krukow after a 3-1 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night. "It's a big series against St. Louis—I just wish we could play better in this park."

Not only has Busch Stadium been a recent frustration for the Cubs, but so has Olympic Stadium in Montreal. They were shut out there prior to two defeats in St. Louis and have scored a total of two runs in their last three losses.

Chicago Manager Herman Franks isn't taking it too hard, though.

"Look, we're still 6½ games in front," said Franks, whose team led by 8½ before the losing streak. "This is no funeral, you know. How can I be disappointed? We play tomorrow."

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 in 14 innings; the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the San Francisco Giants 10-5; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the San Diego Padres 2-1; the Houston Astros stopped the Atlanta Braves 3-1 and the Montreal Expos beat the New York Mets twice, 6-5 and 5-3.

Tony Scott and Ted Simmons drove in St. Louis runs in the first inning and the Cardinals added a run in the eighth, beating the Cubs behind the combined five-hit pitching of Larry Dierker and Rawly Eastwick.

Dierker withstood Bobby Murcer's leadoff triple, leading to the Cubs' run in the second inning, and extinguished two serious threats through seven innings. Eastwick took over in the eighth and blanked the Cubs without a hit in posting his ninth save.

Phillies 7, Pirates 6
Ted Sizemore capped a three-run, 14th-inning rally with an RBI single that carried Philadelphia over Pittsburgh. The Pirates had gone ahead 6-4 in the top of the 14th on Duffy Dyer's RBI double and an error by right fielder Bake McBride that allowed another run to score.

Gene Garber, 3-4, was the winner and Grant Jackson, 0-3, the loser.

Dodgers 10, Giants 5
Ron Cey's 17th home run, the highlight of a five-run fifth inning, sent Los Angeles past San Francisco. Bill Madlock connected for two home runs off the Dodgers' Doug Rau, 8-1, including a three-run drive in the third for the game's first runs. Madlock's second homer came in the sixth with the bases empty.

Reggie Smith had four hits for the Dodgers, while Cey and Steve Yeager each drove in three runs. Yeager, who had a triple and double, left the game after being struck by a foul tip in the sixth.

Reds 2, Padres 1
Fred Norman scattered five hits and George Foster slammed his 21st home run to lead Cincinnati over San Diego. Norman, improving his record to 9-3, walked two and struck out eight as he completed his fourth game of the year.

Sports In Brief

By The Associated Press

TENNIS
WIMBLEDON, England — Virginia Wade of Great Britain captured the women's singles title at Wimbledon, defeating Betty Stove of the Netherlands 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Wade thus became the first British woman to gain the title since Ann Jones defeated Billie Jean King eight years ago.

GOLF
MILWAUKEE — Mike Morley, Keith Fergus, Fuzzy Zoeller and Gary McCord all fired three-under-par 69s to take the first-round lead in the $130,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

BARCELONA, Spain — Tom Watson shot a nine-under-par 63 on the final round to tie the course record and won the Barcelona Golf Tourney by 11 strokes with a 269.

AUTO RACING
DIJON, France — Britain's John Watson, driving a Brabham-Alfa, took the pole position away from Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and teammate Gunnar Nilsson of Sweden. Andretti and Nilsson, driving a black JPS-Lotus, dominated Friday's early qualifying for Sunday's French Grand Prix auto race.

MOSPORT, Ont. — Al Unser raced his Parnelli-Cosworth around the Mosport 2.45-mile layout in record time while qualifying for Sunday's Molson Diamond Indy.

BOATING
PONTA DELGADA, Azores — A busted fuel tank hampered American speedboater Dr. Robert Magoon in his attempt to set a world record for crossing the Atlantic in a power boat.

The 36-foot boat, with Magoon and a crew of three aboard, left the Rota Naval Base in Spain Friday.

ROWING
HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England — The Irish Garda crew, defeated the Harvard University eight by a quarter of a length to win a heat of the Grand Challenge Cup at the Henley Regatta.

TRACK AND FIELD
SOCHI, U.S.S.R. — Brenda Moorhead, an 18-year-old American, upset Lyudmila Maslakova in the 100-meter dash as a young U.S. team made a strong showing against a Soviet powerhouse, trailing 102-97 at the end of the first day's events.

DUESSELDORF, West Germany — Johnny Jones nipped Houston McTeer by one-tenth of a second to take the 100-meter dash leading an American sweep of the event in the International Track and Field Festival of Duesseldorf.

GENERAL
CLEVELAND — Lou Saban, former head coach of the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League, was listed in fair condition following open-heart surgery.

Saban, 55, currently the University of Miami head coach, underwent a double coronary bypass operation at the Cleveland Clinic and is expected to recover fully for Miami's opener against Ohio State on Sept. 10.

Golfers Battle Gusty Winds

LACHUTE, Que. (AP) — Chalk one up for the golf analysts.

They said when the 1977 Peter Jackson Classic got under way, the 6,300-yard No. 1 course at the Lachute Golf and Country Club would take its toll on the touring Ladies' Professional Golf Association regulars.

And they were right. Well, almost right, they seemed to have forgot about Chako Higuchi.

The little lady from Japan, using a hot putter, was perhaps the only golfer who managed to tame the course. Higuchi, who has been in the pro ranks since 1970, fired a four-under-par 68 to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round.

But like everyone else, the 30-year-old Miss Higuchi, winner of the LPGA Championship last month, had to battle gusty winds which sometimes reached 50 miles-an-hour.

She was particularly bothered by the stiff breezes on the first nine holes. But coming home, the 5-foot-4, 125-pound Miss Higuchi shot four birdies to take control.

However, of the 67 golfers who played the course, only six could claim sub-par rounds and only two others could equal par.

Americans Donna Caponi Young, Pat Meyers and Betsy Cullen tied for second with 70s, while Pat Bradley and Susie McAllister of the United States were a stroke farther back.

RACER BASKETBALL CAMP—Penny Overbey, 14, (left) and Rose Ross, 15, students at Calloway County High School, were among the participants in the Murray State University Athletic Department's Basketball Camp for Girls held recently. Jana Jones, a member of the MSU basketball team, instructs them during one of their practice sessions. Penny is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Overbey and Rose's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross. The camp is only one of the activities sponsored by the MSU Center for Continuing Education in the Summer Youth Program.

Wants More Coverage On Cardinals

FROM THE MAILBAG: "Your readers want better coverage of the football and baseball Cardinals."

That was in the mail Thursday morning, unsigned.

From the mailbag Friday:

"Your readers DESERVE better coverage of the football and baseball Cardinals."

That letter was in the mail Friday morning, unsigned of course, and strangely enough, looking as if the same person had spent 26 cents to express their mystery opinion.

Okay.

I 100 per cent agree. I think the readers want better coverage of the football and baseball Cardinals. I think they deserve it. I also think everyone should not have to work to make a living, we can just live in a world of utopia.

This is Cardinal country, although it is more so in baseball. Turn the radio on any day or night the Cardinals are playing and you'll find the Redbirds scattered all over the FM band. Football, well, usually we can watch the Big Red on the tube or if not, KMOX usually comes in strong enough, even though St. Louis is four hours from here.

Now, as far as better coverage is concerned, here's the philosophy on sports, which is not necessarily my philosophy either.

If you want to read about the major league teams, receive the box scores and all that, then buy a Courier-Journal. If you want to know what's going on around Murray, for instance, the Little League, the swim team, the American Legion team, local golf tourneys, etc., then pick up a copy of this newspaper.

Some of you may notice that every now and then, we'll have a story on the Cardinals' game from the night before. The careful reader will note one of these two things: If there is a separate Cardinal story, then there is very little advertising on the sports pages or there is little, if any, local sports in the paper that day.

I've said before that I have nothing to do with the amount of space I have to work with. It would be nice to have four or five pages every day and run as much sports as possible.

But we must remember, Murray is a town of less than 20,000 and you can travel to quite a few towns this size and have trouble finding a better all-around sports section than you will find in this paper. There are certain limitations, one of which is I am not a machine that walks around with a camera on my back 24 hours a day.

This is a one-person sports staff and that one person, notably me, can do only so much in a limited time.

Frankly, sometimes I feel local sports is too emphasized but that's what people want, so it seems.

So that's why sometimes, you'll see the major league standings in the paper and spend 10 minutes hunting for the stories on the leagues, only to realize there are none.

When it comes down to the choice of killing a story on major league baseball or killing a picture of a local kid playing ball or killing a story on the swim team or something else, then the major league story must be canned.

Five years ago, this paper had one page for sports and you might even find Dear Abby on there. Of course even today, sometimes the comics get thrown onto the sports page because there's no other place to put them. Believe me, they are not there to fill space.

Who knows?

In five years from now, this paper could be printing on Sundays, it could have another person working in sports and maybe even a photographer who can go out and get more local sports and news pictures.

In five years from now, we may have a four or five-page sports section every day. Then again, in five years from now, we may be just where we are today, hoping for three pages on days when the sports is heavy but yet, satisfied to get two.

Times have been worse.

Sp, yes, the Cardinals deserve better football and baseball coverage. After all, there's a lot of people who sit around every night and listen to the Cardinal games. I hope someday this paper is able to give the readers more. But until then, we'll do the best with what we have.

Stays In-State

Bob Steele from Paducah called the other day. Bob is the number one Murray State fan in the River City. It's not unusual on a Saturday night during the basketball season to see Bob drive up and four or five people get out of the car and come to the game with him.

In his last call, he made a point and I think this should be pointed out to all of the good cynical folk of Murray.

"How many of the players on the Kentucky High School All-Star basketball team are going to attend an in-state college next fall?"

The answer: one.

That person is 5-11 guard David Lowry of Henderson. And of course, he's coming to Murray State.

Lowry, of course, won the game last week as he scored 10 points and hit two free throws in the final half-minute that helped give Kentucky a sweep of favored Indiana.

To those people who habitually cry because Murray recruits from New York and New Jersey, take David Lowry on the chin.

An added note: Former Kentucky All-Star and Calloway County High School All-American James Wells is no longer at Dayton. Disappointed after riding the bench much of his sophomore season, the 6-9 center has transferred to the University of Hawaii. He will have to sit out this season.

Virginia Wade Finally Wins Singles Crown At Wimbledon

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — After 14 years of trying, and losing to inferior opponents and her own nerves, a new-look Virginia Wade finally has won the Wimbledon singles crown in front of her queen and her own home crowd.

With a new hairstyle and a new relaxed temperament, she beat Betty Stove of The Netherlands 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 Friday to add the Wimbledon title to the ones she already has won in the U.S., Italian and Australian opens.

Jimmy Connors, the 1974 Wimbledon champion, was to meet defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden today in the men's final.

The Wimbledon crowd has called her "Ginny" since, as a lithe 17-year-old, her hair in a pony tail, she first appeared at Wimbledon in 1964, the year Maria Bueno won the third of her titles.

For the past 10 years she's been in the seedings. But only once before has she reached the semifinals—never the finals.

Miss Wade dispelled any doubts in the semifinal, when she beat Chris Evert, the defending champion.

And in the final against Miss Stove, she fought back tenaciously after losing the first set and standing level 3-3 in the second.

The match started badly for Miss Wade but well for Miss Stove, the first girl from The Netherlands ever to reach a singles final here. Miss Stove, plagued by a series of nine double faults in the match, was picking up points by loping to the net and volleying well.

It brought her the first set at 6-4 as Miss Wade could not pass her at the net or draw her back with lobs.

But midway through the second set, the pattern changed. Miss Stove had just cancelled out an earlier Wade service break by breaking back in the fifth game to make it 2-3 and then 3-3. Miss Wade held for 4-3, then suddenly got another break, to 15, in the eighth game, and held service for the set.

Scenting victory, she streaked off to a 3-0 lead in the final set with a couple of breaks.

Miss Stove fought hard to win the third game, but a tragic double fault—her ninth—gave it to Miss Wade.

That game and the next went to deuce. The fifth game looked like it was going Miss Wade's way when she reeled off a passing forehand and a cross-court return of service, plus a finely-judged lob, to get within sight of another break. But Miss Stove won the next five points for the game, and trailed 1-4.

That was the Dutch woman's last game, and in the final two she picked up only a couple of points.

Miss Wade held service to love, with Miss Stove relapsing into some wild volleying, for 5-1. And Miss Stove, serving to save the match, dumped two more volleys in the seventh. The second of those, netted on Miss Wade's return and the forecourt empty, gave Miss Wade match point. Miss Stove saved that with a cross-court backhand but once again netted a volley to give Miss Wade the match and the crowd their biggest thrill since Ann Jones last brought the title home in 1969.

A NEW VIEW OF THE HARE AND THE TORTOISE!

Once upon a time there was a rabbit boasting of his speed before the other animals. Among the animals was a little turtle that had heard all she wanted to hear and turned and plodded off.

"Where are you going?" asked the rabbit. "To the bank," answered the turtle. "You'll never make it," chided the rabbit. "The bank closes in five minutes, but I'll get there because I can really run fast."

As it happened the rabbit arrived at his bank one minute late and it was closed. The turtle just kept up her leisurely pace as she knew she didn't have to hurry. She could do her banking any time she got there because she had a Teller-24 card from Peoples Bank.

The moral of the story is: the one who wins is the one with a Teller-24 card from Peoples Bank!

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The leader board told a half-truth. Accurately enough, it showed a four-way first place deadlock. Gary McCord, Fuzzy Zoeller, Mike Morley and rookie Keith Fergus all shot three-under-par 69s Friday and were one stroke ahead of Mac McLendon, Ed Sabo and Barney Thompson going into today's second round of the $130,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

But what the board didn't reflect were vicious crosswinds which gusts to 37 m.p.h. much of the day and turned the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course, normally a touring pro's delight, into a nightmare.

Each of the day's top seven finishers except McLendon played their rounds in the afternoon, during which the southwest gales gradually shifted to the northwest and tapered to 27 m.p.h.

Most of the bigger names have skipped this tournament to prepare for next week's British Open.

Two-time Milwaukee winner Dave Stockton and 1971 champ Dave Eichelberger were at 71, along with Dave Lundstrom, Stanton Lee and Frank Beard.

Among the 12 who matched par was Lee Trevino, former U.S. Open and British Open and PGA champion. Considering the elements, it was one of Trevino's best rounds since his surgery for a herniated disc last November.

Ruzici Released

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Lobsters, saying they want to beef up their mixed doubles team, have released Virginia Ruzici and signed Mimmi Wikstedt of Sweden for the second half of the World Team Tennis season.

Robert Kraft, Lobsters' president, said Friday that Miss Ruzici of Romania was dropped for personal reasons, adding the separation came on "the best of terms."

The surprise signing of No. 2 ranked woman player Martina Navratilova to the club in April apparently pushed Miss Ruzici out in singles play. In doubles play, Kraft said, she found it difficult to make the line-up.

Washer

There's more than one way to skin a cat, as the saying goes. And there's more than one way to get a clean wash as you conserve electricity. Here's how.

1. Wash full loads without packing. Electricity is saved because washer and hot water are used less often.
2. If you must wash a small load (like special fabrics), select the water level to fit the load.
3. Use warm and cold water whenever possible to cut down on the energy needed to heat water.

Dryer

Help your electric dryer on washday by following these tips.

1. Don't overload! This makes your dryer work harder and longer.
2. Clean lint filter after each load. This helps clothes dry faster.
3. Don't overdry. It sets wrinkles and wastes electricity.
4. To reduce the air conditioner's workload and prevent moisture damage to walls and ceiling, vent the dryer's heat, lint, and moisture to the outside.

Let's Stay Well

Knee Pain in Children

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mr. D.P. writes to express concern that his 8-year-old son complains of recurrent pain in his right knee. Yet their family physician and a bone specialist have been unable to locate any trouble. The father wants to know if such a complaint could be imaginary and a way for his son to attract attention.

A: Your concern is justified and should persist.

In general, it is highly unlikely that your young son has only an imaginary or functional pain. Joint pain in a child of his age should be regarded as real and based on disease. You should continue to seek the cause.

As your physicians have likely explained, the diagnosis of joint pain can be complex and difficult since such pain can be caused by a number of disorders - including an injury (sprain, ligament tear, damaged cartilage, etc.), inflammation, arthritis, bone tumor, postural problem or an irritated nerve.

A general history, physical examination, laboratory studies and X-rays usually are necessary to rule out systemic and local disease. These studies usually will establish a diagnosis. Parents can often be helpful by trying to note what seems to bring on a bout of joint pain. What was he doing at the time or shortly before? Is the pain worse after rest, or is it usually exaggerated by exercise?

Since the hip on the same side has its nerve supply from a similar source, care has to be taken to rule out disease or injury to the hip region, even though the pain may be felt in the knee.

Occasionally, if the cause remains obscure, repeated examinations at fairly frequent intervals may be necessary to make an accurate diagnosis. I realize that this may be expensive, but it may be a good investment and may prove cheaper in the long run and avoid suffering and disability at a later time.

Under the circumstances, it may be wise to discuss the advisability of additional consultations with one or more physicians.

TVA Asks Its Customers To Turn Up Thermostats

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Unexpected demands for electricity and emergency power plant shutdowns have prompted the Tennessee Valley Authority to ask its customers to turn their thermostats up to 78 degrees.

TVA Power Manager Godwin Williams said Thursday the use of more air conditioners during hot weather and increased industrial demand have combined to put a strain on the seven-state government utility's power system.

"We don't have all the generating capacity we had hoped for this year because of construction and other delays," he said. "As a result, our power reserves have been thin, and it may be difficult to meet peak loads if they come when several generating units are off the line for repairs or servicing."

Three large units—one at the Colbert plant in Alabama and two at the Paradise plant in Kentucky—were shut down Thursday for emergency repairs. Altogether, officials said, about 6 million kilowatts of TVA's 27-million kilowatt capacity were out of service.

"The most important step consumers can take is to turn their thermostats up to 78 degrees or higher," Williams said. "We realize this may be a little uncomfortable, but it can be a real help in meeting these unusual power demands, and at the same time save on the consumer's electric bills."

TVA officials said the summer demand reached a peak of 20.85 million kilowatts last Friday.

That's just 2.5 million kilowatts below a winter peak last Jan. 17 when sub-zero temperatures knocked out several generating units, forcing TVA to reduce its voltage 5 per cent and ask customers not to raise thermostats above 65.

"Power demands already have reached record summer levels, with the hottest weather yet to come," Williams said. "Each year more homes have air-conditioning, and, in addition, industrial and commercial use of TVA power has increased since last summer because of improved economic conditions."

TVA had hoped to have one unit of its twin-reactor Sequoyah nuclear plant north of Chattanooga—supplying 1.2 million kilowatts of power—operating this summer, but its completion has been delayed a year.

In addition, completion of the Raccoon Mountain pumped storage plant in Chattanooga—capable of producing 1.5 million kilowatts—has been delayed two years because of faulty components.

Under seasonal exchange agreements, TVA also is having to supply as much as 2 million kilowatts to neighboring utilities during the summer peak demand hours of 4 p. m. to 8 p. m. TVA gets the power back from its neighbors in the winter, when peak demands on its power system are at their greatest.

In other rulings:

—The court said Mrs. Mattie Baldridge was entitled to a disability pension from General Telephone Co. at Ashland, as Boyd Circuit Court had ruled.

"This litigation is largely attributable to General Telephone's failure to see that its 1964 agreement with the union said what the company wanted it to mean and its insistence thereafter that it did not mean what it said," the justices' opinion commented.

—The court affirmed Pike Circuit Court in a decision against the city of Pikeville which tried for a second time to annex a tract known as "airport property."

It said those protesting the annexation correctly asserted the city had not waited the required two years after failure of the original attempt to draw up a new ordinance.

—The court reversed the conviction of Wilson H. Gunter by Pulaski Circuit Court for the murder of Judy Cash and first degree arson of his own apartment.

Gunter, sentenced to 20 and five-year prison terms, won a new trial on his contention the prosecutor's argument was prejudicial, and improper.

—The court held that Blue Cross Hospital Plan Inc. was adhering legally to its policy when it paid Mattie S. Henry of Daviess County only the amount of expenses not paid by medicare.

Upholding Daviess Circuit Court, the justices said the exclusion was not unreasonable or against public policy.

Economy Expected To Pick Up In Second Half Of This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the midyear, which we all know is when most people go on vacation, leaving economists and government officials to worry about the state of the nation.

Worry is the proper approach in such occupations, because so much can go bad so quickly. But here is an economic view, presented without comment, that departs pleasantly from what you're used to hearing.

It's a fresh, crisp as a salad — dated today — report from Albert H. Cox, Jr., president of Merrill Lynch Economics, an arm of the nation's largest securities firm and an important economic force in its own right.

"The economy's performance in the second half is likely to be, by and large, a pleasant contrast to what has transpired thus far this year.

"There won't be the impact of a harsh winter to exaggerate and to worry about. Consumer price inflation, which reached double-digit proportions from last December through April, should settle down to around 6.5 per cent or thereabouts, as food price inflation subsides.

"Interest rates should hold steady, or possibly even drift a bit lower in the next few months, now that the Fed has successfully concluded its spring offensive against a spurt in monetary growth.

"Consumer spending will probably be a lot stronger than many fear, though the mix is changing, with more emphasis on household durables and flattening of auto demand.

"And capital spending should continue to show added zip, despite the rather widespread skepticism that has greeted our own (strong) capital spending survey results and similar soundings by the Commerce Department."

We return now to cares and tribulations.

Julius Shiskin, the respected leader of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, is worried that the monthly economic numbers are being leaked to Wall Street traders a few minutes early, giving them a trading advantage in the stock market.

The stock market often seeks excuses to move, and the monthly numbers almost always provide that excuse. It's a game that investors and speculators play.

From now on, states Shiskin, the Labor Department's monthly reports on unemployment, wholesale prices and consumer prices are to be made available for public distribution at 9 a.m. instead of 10 a.m.

The postmaster general said the agency's financial condition is better than at any time since the 1971 reorganization made it substantially independent of Congress and the president.

But he added that because "inflation continues to plague the Postal Service," steps must be taken soon to increase rates next year.

Bailar said the agency, under existing labor agreements, must soon pay raises to most of its workers. And other cost increases, such as for fuel, are inevitable, he said.

Last year Bailar testified before a Senate committee that the Postal Service was in such financial peril that it could become insolvent within a year.

He said that when the new rates take effect early next year, over two years will have passed since the last increase in first-class rates.

Postage increases, once proposed by the board of governors, need be approved only by the Postal Rate Commission.

At one time officials had expected to lose about $1 billion in the year ended June 30.

The financial picture improved after Bailar ordered that many job vacancies be filled by transferring workers not needed in their present posts, rather than by hiring new employees. This policy, which has sparked controversy with the postal unions, has reduced the work force to 657,000 people, some 84,000 less than before the 1971 reorganization.

The postmaster general contended this reduction has not hurt service, a view disputed by the unions, many congressmen and others.

Bailar said Postal Service statistics show that on-time delivery was as frequent in the last 12 months as at any time during the six years.

"The Postal Service delivered 96 per cent of mail eligible for overnight delivery on time and 94 per cent of mail designated for second- and third-day delivery," he said.

Kentucky has stake in automotive industry

LOUISVILLE—Sixty-eight of every thousand U.S. trucks and 13 of every thousand U.S. cars are manufactured in Louisville, one dramatic example of Kentucky's stake in the automotive industry. The Kentucky Business Ledger reported this week.

The monthly business news tabloid reported that the automotive industry and related industries and businesses employ 22 of every hundred Kentucky workers, and the motor vehicle taxes account for 16.5 per cent of all state revenues.

Ford Motor Company, whose Louisville operations include both an automotive assembly plant and the world's largest medium and heavy truck manufacturing plant, employs 7,354 persons, second only to General Electric Co. in statewide employment, the publication reported. The impending addition of another production shift at the car manufacturing facility will add 1,400 more employees and some $32 million in annual payroll.

Kentucky's two largest home-grown companies, Ashland Oil Inc., (4.4 billion in 1976 revenues) and Texas Gas Transmission Corp., ($990 million in 1976 revenues), are heavily involved with the automotive industry. Most of Ashland's products go in, on, or under cars and trucks, and 30 per cent of Texas Gas revenues come from its trucking operations. More than 50 companies have Kentucky operations that manufacture automotive components, and hundreds of others have direct ties to the industry, the Ledger reported.

The July issue of Kentucky Business Ledger is devoted to the transportation industry, with special features on railroad, barge, and trucking phases of the industry, as well as argument for and against completion of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

Hogancamp
Featured Speaker

Mr. Ben Hogancamp, an officer of the Lassing Plaster Co. Inc. of Murray and Paducah, Kentucky, was featured speaker and participant in a symposium titled "Energy Conserving Lath and Plaster Exterior Wall Systems." The two day symposium took place June 22-23 at the University of Tennessee at Nashville.

The symposium was produced by the industry's trade association, the Southeast Lathing and Plastering Bureau, Inc. and its local chapter in Nashville.

Mr. Hogancamp's timely subject dealt with the creation of lightweight, non load-bearing exterior wall systems including curtain walls for all types of low and high rise buildings with emphasis on pre-fabrication on or off site. His presentation was illustrated with slides of a number of projects successfully completed in the last several years by his firm.

Thousands of small businesses helped by SBA

The Small Business Administration's business loans and counseling services have helped thousands of small firms originate, expand, and prosper. Prospective new business owners, as well as persons already in business, will have the opportunity to find out about assistance available from SBA on the first Thursday of each month in Paducah.

A representative from the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) will be at this agency's part-time office at City Hall, Commissioner's Chambers (second floor), Paducah, Thursday, July 7, from 9:00 a.m. till 12:00 noon.

Services provided by SBA in addition to business loans include management counseling and training programs to upgrade management skills. Persons interested in establishing a new business, as well as owners of existing businesses, are welcome to consult with the SBA representative regarding financial assistance or other management problems relating to the operation of a small business.

Current financial records of the business and personal financial statements will assist the SBA representative in advising you.

BANK NOTES

by Bill Boyd

Life insurance is an important part of any family's financial security plan. In general, the amount of insurance should be about three times the annual earnings of the head of the family.

Check with a competent insurance agent to determine the type and amount of insurance you need. Check with us on other money-management matters.

3. Card Of Thanks

THE FAMILY OF Kenneth Dan (Kenny) Orr would like to express their deepest appreciation for each act of kindness shown us during our time of sorrow.

To the C. C. H. S., F. F. A. Chapter and the class of 1977 for the love they have shown. To each one who sent flowers, food, or helped in any way. We thank the pallbearers, the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home, Bro. Harold Irvan and Bro. James Thomason for their words of comfort and the singers for such a beautiful song service. Kenny had not sent cards, expressing his thanks to family and friends who sent him gifts for graduation this year. At this time we as parents, would like to say our deepest "thank-you" in behalf of Kenny. Each act of kindness meant a great deal to us. Again let us say thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dan Orr, Dale and Michael.

QUALITY REALTY 527-1468 or 753-9625

It's a fact. The faster we go in our cars, the faster we take life. It's a horrible waste. Speed drains precious energy resources, too. All in the name of saving time.

The point is this. The 55 mph speed limit offers a chance to stop some of this waste if we want to take it to heart.

9400 fewer people lost their lives on our highways during 1975 than in 1973, when speed limits were above 55.

We are saving some gas, too. But nowhere near the eight and a half million gallons a day we could save if everybody slowed down.

Too many people are still taking the 55 mph speed limit too lightly. And overlooking one other fact. Besides saving lives and gas, it's the law, too.

55 MPH. IT'S NOT JUST A GOOD IDEA. IT'S THE LAW.

Deaths and Funerals

Kelly Forrester

Dies At Age Six;

Rites At Grave

Kelly Forrester, six-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Kent Forrester of 806 Sha-Wa Circle, Murray, died Friday at 1:30 p. m. at his home. His death followed an extended illness.

The little boy was born August 22, 1970, in Utah and was the son of Kent Forrester and Marie Sheppard Forrester, who survive along with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Forrester, California, and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Sheppard, Oregon.

Graveside services were held this morning at nine o'clock at the Murray City Cemetery with the Rev. Fred Morton officiating. The Max Churchill Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy take the form of contributions to the St. Jude's Children's Hospital, Memphis, TN.

Funeral Is Sunday

For Mrs. Giles

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Giles will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home. Burial will follow in the Elm Grove Cemetery with grandsons serving as pallbearers.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mrs. Giles, age 78, died Friday at 5:25 a. m. at the Westview Nursing Home. Her husband, Hardin Giles, died May 15, 1971. She was a member of the Liberty Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Odell Lamb, Hazel Route Two, and Mrs. Aubrey Eldridge, Murray Route Six; one son, Ron Giles, Memphis, Tenn.; two sisters, Mrs. Mamie Thompson and Mrs. Audrey Wilkerson, Murray; two brothers, Nolan Adams, Murray, and Aught Adams, Paducah; nine grandchildren; seven great grandchildren.

William S. Hart

Dies At His Home

William Scott Hart of Route Two, Stewart, Tenn., died Friday morning at his home. He was 66 years of age and a retired farmer. Born April 9, 1911, he was the son of the late John Daniel Hart and Nina Rutland Hart.

Mr. Hart is survived by his wife, Mrs. Estelle Gardner Hart, to whom he was married on April 13, 1940, and one daughter, Mrs. Carol Wochnick, Memphis, Tenn.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at two p. m. at the chapel of the Anglin Funeral Home, Dover, Tenn., with burial to follow in the Wofford Cemetery there.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Final Rites Today

For Mr. Alexander

Final rites for Herbert Alexander of Hazel Route Two will be held today at three p. m. at the Mason's Chapel United Methodist Church, where he was a member, with the Rev. Tommie Martin officiating and the church choir providing the song service.

Serving as pallbearers will be Cleo Bucy, Ralph Carraway, Cleo Darby, Hugh Alexander, Thomas Jimerson, and Reuben Chrisman. Burial will follow in the Foundry Hill Cemetery with the arrangements by the Miller Funeral Home of Hazel.

Mr. Alexander, age 63, died Thursday at his home. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Alexander, Hazel Route Two, one daughter, Mrs. Junior Ray, and two grandchildren, Alex and Mitzi Ray.

Ruling Star Lodge To Hold Meeting Tonight

Ruling Star Lodge No. 51 Free and Accepted Masons will meet Saturday, July 2, at seven p. m. at the Lodge Hall. Work will be in the Master Mason degree, and all master masons are invited to attend, said Lloyd B. Arnold, master of the lodge.

Bernie E. Adams'

Funeral Is Today

The funeral for Bernie E. Adams, 74-year-old resident of Murray Route Four, will be held today at two p. m. at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Lawson Williamson officiating and Mrs. Oneida White as organist and soloist.

Pallbearers will be Doris Scarborough, Otto Clark, Bert Taylor, Marvin Lassiter, Raymond Crawford, and Robert Clark. Burial will follow in the Sinking Spring Cemetery. Mr. Adams died Wednesday at 11:20 p. m. at the Westview Nursing Home. He was a member of the Sinking Spring Baptist Church and a retired farmer.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. W. (Bobbie) Horton, Paducah; one son, Danny Adams and his wife, Linda Sherida Adams, Murray Route Four; one sister, Mrs. Fronie Miles, Murray; two brothers, Carl, Mayfield, and Genie, Hazel Route Two; five grandchildren, Ken, Jerry, Beth Ann, and Kevin Horton, and Jimmy Dan Adams.

KDE Officials

To Retire At

End Of Month

FRANKFORT — Two Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) officials, D. C. Anderson and Newton S. Thomas, will retire June 30.

Anderson has directed KDE's Division of Supervision, Accreditation and Organization for 11 years. He had served two years as assistant director and six years as a general supervisor in the same division.

Prior to his work in the state education department, Anderson served as a principal in Salyersville, Lee County and Winchester and as superintendent in the Montgomery County school system.

Anderson earned his bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Kentucky and did further graduate work at UK and Columbia University in New York.

Thomas has served as director of the Division of Equal Educational Opportunities since 1972. He had served as assistant director of the division since 1969.

Prior to working with the state education department, Thomas served as principal and basketball coach at Horse Cave High School from 1936 to 1957. Two of his teams won state championships and two players, Clarence Wilson and Carl Helm, later became members of the Harlem Globetrotters.

Following a merger of Horse Cave and Cave City schools, Thomas taught science and mathematics at Caverna High School until 1969.

THINK ABOUT IT!

By Kenny Ims

Our forefathers fought for and won independence because they deserved it. The words of Joseph deMaistre, French statesman and philosopher of the 17th Century, should ring a bell for us: "Every nation has the government it deserves." Are his words as meaningful now... 50 years from now... 100 years hence... Before we hurriedly say, "Yes," let's consider another quote.

"A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can exist only until the voters discover that they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury, with the result that democracy always collapses over a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship."...Professor Alexander Fraser Tytler of the University of Edinburgh made that statement more than two hundred years ago when explaining a reason for the fall of the Athenian republic. The Athenians were the best educated people in their time but became servants of their victors.

On July 4th, we might ask ourselves, "What sort of Independence Days are we bequeathing to our children and our children's children?" It can be a shuddering question. We should not shrug it off...
